

Richard C. Foltz is a full professor in the Department of Religion, Concordia University. He received a PhD in History and Middle Eastern Studies from Harvard University in 1996. He has published extensively on Islam and the religion of Central Asia. His recent works include A History of the Tajiks: Iranians of the East, to be published by I.B. Tauris in 2019, and the Persian edition of Iran in World History, published by Oxford University Press in 2016.